

Science: It has its limits

Science defined:

Presuppositions of Science

Nature is real.

Nature is _____.

Nature can be observed and _____ with the human mind.

Logic is true.

Numbers and language have true _____.

There are certain universal _____ values.

Nature is inherently _____ and worthy of study.

Christian Presuppositions of Science

God created us with the ability to _____ . (Gen. 1:26–27)

God gave us moral standards for living. (1 Peter 1:16)

God created and _____ the working of the universe.

(Genesis 1, Colossians 1:17)

Limitations of Science

- ☞ Science must deal with _____ , measurable phenomena.
- ☞ Observations may be faulty, or at the very least, impaired.
- ☞ Science must deal with _____ results.
- ☞ Science often depends on _____ which are not reality.
- ☞ Science can only describe, not explain.
- ☞ No experiment can be completely _____ .
- ☞ Man's beliefs affect his judgments.
- ☞ Science cannot deal with _____ .
- ☞ Science cannot deal with morals.
- ☞ Science cannot prove a _____ statement.
- ☞ Science cannot establish final or ultimate _____ .
- ☞ Man's application of science is limited by God.

Is science worth the trouble?

Workshop resented by Brad Batdorf, BJU Press Science Author and Supervisor of Secondary Authors