

Anger is black like the enemy fighting against me

It tastes like spicy hot peppers

It smells like burned smoky ashes

And reminds me of adults arguing with each other

It sounds like a mad tornado destroying my house

Anger makes me feel like yelling to Satan to leave me alone

